MISSOURI AND THE WAR

Missouri's share in the great world war, that now appears to be reaching the final stages, has reflected on the "land of the big red apple." Imperial Missouri has loyally responded to the call to the colors, and now more than 100,000 of her bravest sons are wearing the khaki.

Missouri has responded generously to every financial call. She has more than met every obligation. She has gone over the top on the First, Second, Third and Fourth Liberty Loans. She has bought millions of dollars in War Savings Stamps.

Her contributions to the Red Cross have been as generous as those of any other State. She has never been weighed in the balance and found wanting.

Now Missourians must not be misled by peace talk, and peace appearances, and feel that their obligations are at an end. Missouri sent your boy and my boy to the war to fight for the right and to uphold the glory and traditions of our wonderful state and country. We have pledged ourselves to support and succor them. That pledge must be redeemed.

Even if peace came today we are not through. Thousands of boys yours, and mine, are in hospitals or camps "over there." They need every attention we can bestow. They need the books that the American Library Association will give. They need the visits of the entertainers of the Y. M. C. A. They need the coffee and the doughnuts of the Salvation Army. They need the ministrations of the Knights of Columbus, the Y. W. C. A., the Jewish Welfare Board.

Every mother's son of them will receive this and more if Missouri fails not in the campaign next week to raise $7,500,500 to hearten "our boys" and bring them safely back to us. And Missouri will not fail.

St. Louis and Kansas City will raise two-thirds of this amount. The citizens of the rest of the state will not fail to give freely.

THE FOOT-PATH TO PEACE

To be glad of life because it gives you the chance to love and to work and to play and to look up at the stars; to be satisfied with your possessions, but not contented with yourself until you have made the best of them; to despise nothing in the world except falsehood and meanness, and to fear nothing except cowardice; to expect falsehood and meanness, and be governed by your admirations rather than by your disgusts; to covet nothing that is your neighbor's except his kindness of heart and gentleness of manners; to think seldom of your enemies, often of your friends, and every day of Christ; and to spend as much time as you can, with body and with spirit, in God's out-of-doors. These are the little guide posts on the foot-path to peace.—Henry van Dyke.

ARE YOU SAVING COAL?

Are you helping the Government save coal? Our ships, our railroads, our manufacturing plants all have to have coal to win the war. What the householder wastes is robbing the Government's reserve of fuel. Care for your heater yourself this winter, so as to get out of your coal every ounce of heat it will produce.

Do not heat unnecessary rooms; do not overheat your rooms. Do not let ashes collect in your stove or furnace. Keep the pipes clean from soot.

Do not let your fire go down to low at night. It takes twice as much coal to heat up again the next morning.

Keep the air moist by pans of water on radiators or stoves.

THE NEW BOOKS

"German Secret Service in America."

"The German Secret Service in America" is an up-to-the-minute book exposing the methods by which German secret agents under oath set out to obtain complete information concerning the industrial, social and military organization of the United States and the weakness of each that they might know the vulnerable points of attack.

The vivid account of the bribery, sedition, murder, arson, theft and other violations of law to which the German spy stooped is only an open denunciation of the Prussian means of subverting the aims of our government.

Germany sent her most polished diplomats, Bernstorff, Boy-Ed, Von Papen, Koenig and others to the United States that they might mingle with the influential and representative people while at the same time draining every possible channel of information from the coast of Maine to the Mexican border, where Von Papen studied our methods of attack and from where he wrote to Germany that "American explosives would cut no important figure in a possible European war."

The work of the German secret service man in the United States is summarized as follows: He inspired food riots in New York, opposed the draft law under the cloak of the I. W. W., blew up munition plants, caused strikes in the airplane forces in the northwest, erected wireless sets in Mexico by which he could communicate with Germany, placed poisonous germs in food at our army camps, assisted interned Germans to escape and worked in airplane factories for the purpose of injuring the machinery so that aviators would be killed.

These are only a few instances of the work that has been done in our own communities under our very eyes, the extent of which may never be known to the world. It is by John Price Jones and Paul Merrick Hollister.

THE OPEN COLUMN

Editor the Missouriian: I would remind the would-be facetious "Senior" whose letter was published in your issue of November 6, that in the Missouriian of Friday and Saturday last, the complete list of voluntary quarantine rules is printed.

Also, posters are now located in conspicuous places, giving definitely and briefly the rules which the women of the University voluntarily adopted to prevent the spread of the influenza. They have been up since the rules were passed.

Also, let me point out that these stringent rules have so aided the medical authorities in suppressing the epidemic, that it might almost be said the worst is over.

If the person who wrote the letter above referred to had been personally interested in discovering just what the rules were, the adviser of women has always been and is available by telephone, as was and is also the president of the Student Government Association.

It is suggested that the writer of the letter mentioned use a little more reasoning power than seems to have been the case.

UNIVERSITY WOMAN

Stonewall Whit, a student in the University, left this morning for his home in Waverly where he will visit his parents before reporting in aviation service.

PAY DAY FOR S. A. T. C.

Line Formed at 1 O'clock—Interfering Classes Were Cut.

Today was the first payday for the members of the S. A. T. C. The line started at 1 o'clock this afternoon with the medical department, the companies following in order, first, second, and so on. Classes that interfered with getting their pay were not attended by the S. A. T. C. members.

The majority of the students received about $23, the remainder going for insurance, unless some was to be sent to dependents. Then, too, if one had been unlucky enough to eat a bite of food at the mess hall before the order for seats was given, $10 more was deducted from his pay. Besides the insurance deduction, many students who subscribed for a Liberty Bond received either $5 or $10 less.

Student's Brother Cited.

Unlike Topsy— Swift & Company Has Not "Jest Grown"

Swift & Company, in fifty years of well ordered growth, has become one of the great national services because it has learned to do something for the American people which they needed to have done for them, in the way in which they preferred to have it done.

It has met each successive demand, in the changing conditions of national life, by getting good meat to increasing millions effectively, efficiently, economically, and expeditiously.

The Swift & Company packing plants, refrigerator cars, car routes, branch houses, organization, and personnel of today are the practical solutions, born of practical experience, to the food problems of a half a century.

Because of all of these elements working in correlation and unison, Swift & Company is able to supply more and better meat to more people than would have been possible otherwise, at a net profit per pound of meat so low (a fraction of a cent) that the consumer price is practically unaffected.

Strip away any portion of this vast, smooth-running human machine, and you make a large part of the meat supply uncertain, lose the benefit of half a century of fruitful experience, and scatter the intelligent energies of men who have devoted a life work toward meeting the needs of a nation in one vital field.

The booklet of preceding chapters in this story of the packing industry will be mailed on request to Swift & Company,
Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Illinois.
